Call for Papers

The Institute of Modern Greek Studies (M. Triandaphyllidis Foundation), Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, is pleased to announce a two-day Symposium on ‘Greek language and spoken communication’, to be held on 18-19 September 2014, in the framework of the research project Greek talk-in-interaction and Conversation Analysis.

The Symposium aims to examine pragmatic and sociolinguistic aspects of Modern Greek, focusing on its use in communication and, more specifically, in naturally occurring spoken interaction in everyday or institutional contexts. There are no restrictions regarding the phenomena to be examined, provided that their analysis is grounded on empirical data drawn from tape-/video-recordings of naturally occurring talk. Due to the orientation of the project, papers adopting a Conversation Analysis perspective will be given priority, without other approaches being excluded.

ABSTRACT SUBMISSION

Those who wish to participate in the Symposium with a paper are invited to submit two copies of their abstracts (one signed and one anonymous) as MS Word attachment to GR-TiI_ins@phil.auth.gr by 15 May 2014. Notification of acceptance will be communicated by 15 June 2014.

Besides the purpose of the paper, abstracts should specify the type of data used, the methodology employed and the main research results.

Submissions should be in the following format:

Length: 300-400 words (including bibliography)

Font: Times New Roman 12pt

Space: single

Margins: 3 cm all sides

For the signed copy: title, author(s), affiliation, email address (centered)

For the anonymous copy: title (centered). Reference to the author(s) of the paper in the anonymous copy should only be included in the following form: AUTHOR(S). publication date.

PARTICIPATION FEES

Standard fee: 40 €, Student fee: 20 €. Participation fees are to be paid on the day of registration.
